SACRAMENTO UPDATE

State Budget Update

On Monday, March 24, 2008, the Legislature returned from its spring recess and budget committees quickly resumed their work. Hearings are scheduled over the next two weeks to address health and human services, public safety, mandates, and the State-local fiscal relationship, among other issues.

In addition to these legislative activities, Governor Schwarzenegger began a Statewide tour to meet with local officials to seek support for a Constitutional Amendment to reform the State Budget process. According to the Governor, the proposed Budget Stabilization Act (BSA) will help address the State's ongoing fiscal problems by limiting spending and granting the Governor authority to make mid-year reductions to reduce the likelihood of future State Budget deficits. While the Governor declared his intent to introduce the BSA proposal in his January State of the State address, there is no language in print.

Two key elements of the BSA outlined by the Governor would:

- 1) Limit spending to the State's 10-year average revenue growth. Revenues in excess of the average would be set aside in a "rainy day fund," and could only be used to help balance the State's Budget when revenue growth falls below the long-term average; and

- 2) Grant authority to the Governor to call for automatic budget curtailments if the Department of Finance projects a year-end deficit. If the deficit is projected at one percent or less, State agencies would cut spending by two percent; and if the deficit is greater than one percent, State agencies would cut spending by five percent.

The measure would require the Legislature to enact contingency laws for entitlement programs in which spending is driven by requirements in existing law, such as Medi-Cal and the California Work Opportunity and Responsibility to Kids programs. These contingency laws would specify how reductions would be implemented to achieve two percent or five percent reductions. For any programs for which the Legislature failed to enact contingency laws but was required to do so, the Governor would be given the authority to waive any State law in order to achieve the reduction target.

Based on the general characterizations of the proposal, the Legislative Analyst's Office (LAO), as part of its analysis of the FY 2008-09 Governor's Proposed Budget recommended that the Legislature reject the proposed amendment. The LAO concluded that the proposed ten-year average formula would be too inflexible on a year-to-year basis. Without the ability to adjust to unexpected circumstances, the Legislature would be unnecessarily restricted in the tools available to balance the State budget. The proposed changes also represent a serious reduction of the Legislature's authority. Under the State Constitution, only the Legislature can appropriate funds and make mid-year reductions to those appropriations. Under the Administration's proposal, however, the Governor would have the authority to determine when across-the-board reductions would occur. Moreover, if the Legislature did not pass the contingency laws envisioned by the measure, the Governor would have the authority to waive State laws affecting its core programs.

Pursuit of County Position on Legislation

SB 375 (Steinberg), as amended on March 24, 2008, makes numerous changes with respect to regional transportation and land use planning with the overall goal of reducing transportation sector greenhouse gas emissions in California. Key provisions require the larger regional transportation planning agencies, such as the Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG), to limit greenhouse gas emissions by developing more sophisticated transportation planning as part of their regional plans for creating a "sustainable communities strategy" (SCS). This includes compliance with the Federal Clean Air Act, an inventory of various greenhouse gases, and processes to reduce emission level standards established by the California Air Resources Board (CARB). The bill provides incentives for local governments to incorporate the SCS into the transportation element of their general land use plans, and allows for certain projects to be exempted from the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) review, provided the project meets specific eligibility requirements.

Specifically, SB 375 would require the California Transportation Commission (CTC), in consultation with CARB, to adopt guidelines by July 1, 2009, for travel demand models used in the development of an SCS by metropolitan planning organizations, county transportation agencies, or commissions in areas that have been designated as non-attainment areas under the Federal Clean Air Act. These guidelines must account for the relationship between land use density and household automobile usage, the impact of enhanced transit service levels on vehicle usage, and the amount of new travel and land development resulting from highway or passenger rail expansion. They also will require that the regional transportation plan include measures of equity and accessibility, including, but not limited to, the percentage of the population served by frequent and reliable public transit.

In addition, SB 375 would: 1) require CARB, in consultation with the affected transportation agencies, to set regional greenhouse gas emission reduction targets by January 1, 2010, identify reduction measures related to automobile and light truck activities for 2020 and 2035, and to update those targets until 2050; 2) authorize the legislative body of a local jurisdiction to adopt traffic mitigation measures for future residential projects that meet specified criteria and to exempt these residential projects seeking land use approval from compliance with additional measures for traffic impact; and 3) require all regional transportation agencies to include an SCS in their regional transportation plans.

Furthermore, SB 375 would: 1) require the SCS exclude from development a variety of lands, including publicly owned parks, open space, habitat protection areas, farmland and floodplains; 2) require that beginning in 2009, most funded transportation projects be consistent with the regional transportation plans and include a description of the relationship of each project contained in the regional transportation improvement plan; and 3) authorize certain projects within an eligible local jurisdiction to be exempted from specified CEQA requirements. In order to receive an exemption, the local jurisdiction must have amended its general plan so that the land use, circulation, housing, and open space elements are consistent with the region's SCS. In any case where the SCS cannot achieve targeted reductions in greenhouse gas emissions, the regional plan must include a supplement containing alternative measures, either through additional transportation measures or alternative development patterns, that would help achieve its targets.

Impact on County Departments

Department of Regional Planning: The Department of Regional Planning (DRP) indicates that the SCS would not supersede local land use authority, General Plans, or Housing Elements. Amending a General Plan so that the Land Use, Housing, and Open Space Elements are substantially consistent with the SCS would actually result in exemptions from CEQA analysis for projects that meet already established County goals, including: promoting development outside of natural resource and hazard areas; infill and mixed-use development; projects that comply with green building standards; and projects located within one-fourth mile of a transit stop.

DRP also indicates that instead of requiring that each project undergo a separate EIR analysis on traffic mitigation measures, the project may incorporate the SCS environmental analysis and implementation tools that would benefit both the project and the County. This provides for streamlining environmental review for both the project and the Department. If the project meets all other criteria, it would be processed in a timelier manner to provide much-needed services for the County, such as housing.

In addition, DRP indicates that the proposed SCS is not that much different from what SCAG is currently undertaking with its Compass Blueprint Program's Two Percent Strategy. It is a guideline for how and where SCAG can implement its growth vision for Southern California, which calls for modest changes to current land use and transportation trends on only two percent of the land area of the region – the Two Percent Strategy Opportunity Areas. Either current or proposed programs would identify preferred growth scenarios and protected significant resource areas, including farmland, and would also identify sufficient areas to accommodate the expected population, housing, and employment growth outlined in the Regional Transportation Plan.

Furthermore, DRP states that both the Housing Element and the General Plan Update are already implementing goals and policies that directly align with the intent of SB 375 to reduce greenhouse gases, and amendments to either document will most likely be minimal. Therefore, both the Housing Element and the General Plan Update programs will benefit from the provisions of SB 375. Also, complying with SCAG's SCS and gaining CEQA exemptions for applicable projects could provide much needed incentives for development activities and infill projects in the unincorporated communities of the County.

Department of Public Works and Community Development Commission: The Department of Public Works (DPW) has reviewed SB 375 and indicates the bill does not directly affect the Department as it relates primarily to land use decision-making authority for which Regional Planning is the lead department. DPW has no position on the bill. The Community Development Commission (CDC) states that the bill does not have any direct impact on the Department except to the extent that the bill's land use incentives might provide for additional affordable housing development. CDC has no position on the bill.

DRP and this office support SB 375. Support is consistent with the County's support of AB 32 (Pavley and Nuñez), the California Global Warming Solutions Act of 2006, which requires that production of greenhouse gases in California be reduced to 1990 levels by the year 2020, and support of AB 1058 (Pavley) of 2002 which would have required the CARB to develop regulations to achieve the maximum feasible and cost-effective reduction in greenhouse gas emissions from motor vehicles whose primary use is non-commercial personal transportation.

Support for SB 375 also is consistent with several provisions of the County's Adopted General Plan related to air quality and your Board's directive of October 23, 2007 to include the County in the "Cool Counties Initiative", which commits the County to a number of activities related to reducing greenhouse gas emissions. Therefore, our Sacramento advocates will support SB 375.

SB 375 is sponsored by the Natural Resources Defense Council and the California League of Conservation Voters. CSAC, originally listed in opposition to an earlier version of the bill, adopted a support if amended position on the latest version of the bill at the March 20, 2008 Executive Board meeting. CSAC issued a memorandum to the author's office on March 25, 2008 outlining amendments that CSAC is requesting to assist in accomplishing the goals of AB 32. In general, these amendments address rural counties, technical subject areas, and participation of regional planning, transportation, and air pollution agencies. Support and opposition to the March 24, 2008 version of SB 375 is currently unknown. SB 375 is currently in the Assembly Appropriations Committee awaiting a hearing date.

SB 1176 (Perata), as introduced on February 8, 2008, would increase the reporting requirements of the State Water Resources Control Board (WRCB), change membership prerequisites and pay for regional water control board members, and grant WRCB the ability to withdraw the programmatic authority of regional water boards that consistently fail to exercise adequate control over activities required to be regulated under applicable law.

Existing law establishes nine regional water quality boards with nine members each. Individual members are required to have a background in either: 1) water supply, conservation, and production; 2) irrigated agriculture; or 3) industrial water use; or represent 4) municipal government; 5) county government; or 6) a non-governmental recreation, fish, or wildlife organization. The seventh through ninth members must not be associated with the former categories; two of these three individuals must have special competence in water quality problems.

Specifically, SB 1176 would: 1) reduce the membership of regional water quality control boards from nine to seven at-large Governor-appointed members and eliminate members representing county and municipal government; 2) exclude from regional board membership persons who have received a significant portion of their income directly or indirectly from any person subject to waste discharge requirements, or applications for waste discharge requirements during the previous two years; 3) increase the compensation for regional board members from $100 to $500 per day unless the member receives compensation from other sources for performing board related duties; and 4) increase the cap on the yearly compensation for regional board members from $13,500 to $30,000 and allow for increases in the cap based on the percentage pay increase provided to State employees.

In addition, SB 1176 would require: 1) the WRCB to include on its website a compilation of the number of violations of waste discharge requirements and stormwater enforcement violations in the previous calendar year, and a record of the formal and informal compliance and enforcement actions taken for each violation; 2) the WRCB to include an analysis of the effectiveness of current enforcement policies, including mandatory minimum penalties; 3) regional water boards to submit workplans along with their annual budgets and an assessment of progress in terms of the prior year's workplans; 4) the WRCB to prepare and distribute a model workplan for use by the regional boards to be included on its website; and 5) regional boards to ensure that their water quality control plan includes time schedules for actions necessary to achieve water quality objectives.

Furthermore, SB 1176 would allow the WRCB to order the commencement of proceedings for the withdrawal of the programmatic authority of regional water boards on its own initiative or in response to a petition from an interested person alleging the substantial and continuing failure of a regional board to comply with the Federal Clean Water Act. These circumstances include, but are not limited to substantial and continuing failure to: 1) issue permits, waste discharge requirements, or waivers of waste discharge requirements; 2) issue permits, waste discharge requirements, or waivers of waste discharge requirements in compliance with applicable State or Federal law; 3) conduct adequate oversight over discharges subject to memoranda of agreement or understanding with other agencies; 4) comply with the public participation requirements of applicable State or Federal law; 5) meet the discharger identification, inspection, penalty enforcement, and other requirements of the regional board's enforcement programs; and 6) develop an adequate regulatory program for developing water quality-based effluent limits in National Pollution Discharge Elimination System permits.

The Department of Public Works (DPW) indicates that SB 1176 would reduce the membership of regional water quality control boards from nine to seven persons and restructure the composition of those boards, eliminating the members representing county and municipal government. It would also eliminate the requirement for the regional board composition to contain specified areas of expertise.

DPW states that the new requirements are very broad which makes it possible to select members representing a particular view to the exclusion of others, particularly the provision which excludes anyone who is directly or indirectly paid by someone subject to regional board regulation.

In addition, DPW indicates that, pursuant to existing law, regional boards have the ability to consider the value of water quality benefits when setting water quality standards. DPW does not object to the boards having this responsibility. However, DPW believes that the bill should take into consideration other important factors, such as being able to maintain and operate public infrastructure such as flood protection facilities, water conservation/supply facilities, sewage treatment facilities, roads, and bridges as well as protecting public health and safety during and after disasters.

DPW and this office recommend the County oppose SB 1176 unless amended to: 1) retain the current number and professional specializations represented on the regional boards, including county representation; 2) exempt county and municipal officials and retirees from the provision which prohibits any one from serving on the board that has received a significant portion of their income directly or indirectly from any person subject to waste discharge requirements; and 3) include among the factors to consider in setting water quality standards: protection of public health and safety during and after disasters; post-disaster recovery and restoration; and the need to maintain and operate publicly-owned infrastructure, including, but not limit to flood protection facilities, water conservation and supply facilities, sewer and water treatment facilities, roads, and bridges.

Opposition to SB 1176 is consistent with County opposition to SB 1001 (Perata) of 2007, which would have reduced the membership of regional water quality control boards and eliminated the members representing county and municipal government. Therefore, our Sacramento advocates will oppose SB 1176 unless amended as indicated above.

Support and opposition to SB 1176 is currently unknown. This measure is set for a hearing on April 7, 2008 in the Senate Environmental Quality Committee.

Status of County-Sponsored Legislation

County-sponsored AB 1903 (Hernandez), which would reinstate limited liability immunity for use of County flood control channels to recharge underground water tables, was approved by the Assembly Judiciary Committee on its Consent File on Tuesday, March 25, 2008. Prior to approval, the measure was amended to include an urgency clause, making it effective immediately upon signing by the Governor. Because of a dual policy committee referral, AB 1903 now moves to the Assembly Local Government Committee, where it is awaiting a hearing date.

Status of County Advocacy Legislation

County-supported AB 1491 (Jones), which would extend the deadline for the transfer of court facilities from the County to the state, was approved by the Senate on Monday, March 24, 2008 by a vote of 34 to 0. AB 1491 now returns to the Assembly for a vote on concurrence in Senate amendments. Prior to the vote on concurrence, the measure is expected to be referred to the Assembly Judiciary Committee for a review of the Senate amendments.

County-supported SB 1341 (Padilla), which would permit CalWORKs recipients to retain savings and interest earned on savings in a special account to secure permanent rental housing or to make a rental payment to overcome an episode of homelessness, passed the Senate Human Services Committee on March 25, 2008 by a vote of 3 to 2, and now proceeds to the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Legislation of County Interest

SB 867 (Cedillo), which would have authorized licensed family child care providers and license-exempt child care providers to select an organization to negotiate the terms of wages and benefits with the California Department of Social Services, was vetoed by the Governor on March 20, 2008. In his veto message, the Governor stated that, "Given California's significant budget challenge, I cannot consider bills that would add significant fiscal pressures to the State's structural budget deficit. For this reason, I am returning SB 867 without my signature." This is the third time the Governor has vetoed such legislation.
